New York, Sept. 28.-A feverish ton

characterized the dealings in the stock market this morning. There were further declines in Sugar, American Tobac way list also showed recessions, but a larger demand for stocks was apparent. This demand was chiefly from the short account in the market, and it caused a number of sharp recoveries.

very little in the Americans and had no influence on the American market. There was some raily in the industrials that have been the features during the last few days and this seemed to put confi-dence into the general trading. The talk this morning was of a small rally from present prices during the day and for the remainder of the week. There has been

It is certain, that a large part of this business was professional but also it is certain that there was considerable liquidation of long stock. Tobacco was a trifle strong this morning, but not so much so that there was any certainty of a real rally of any significance. The bulls still assert that the tobacco deal is to be

MR. M'KINLEY DISTRESSED

A Political Emergency Demanding Hanna's Presence.

FEARS FOR THE NEXT HOUSE

Lenders in the Republican Party Seriously Alarmed at Portents of Further Disasters-Mr. Babcock Presents a Showing in No Respect

The President is very much troubled it is said, over the prospect of his party's losing control of the next House of Representatives. He is more interested in "saving the House" just at present than anything else, as the loss of the House will effectually block the Administration's program in almost every direction. The President has practically made up his mind to issue orders to his party leaders to bend every energy and make every sacrifice to retain Republican control of the next House.

Chairman Mark A. Hanna, of the Republican national committee, has been summoned to Washington for a conference. He is expected to arrive here this evening. Senator Hanna has a very pretry fight of his own on his hands in Ohio, and would not leave there to come to Washington at this time except upon very urgent business

Several days ago Mr. McKinley summoned Chairman Babcock, of the Republican Congressional Committee, to the White House. He asked Mr. Babcock to give him the exact facts regarding the Congressional outlook. Mr. Babcock went over the situation very carefully with the President, and gave him the gist of his canvass up to date. The result was so unsatisfactory, it is understood, that the President decided to summon Mr. Hanna and other eminent Republican leaders to Washington for a conference.

"I was not present at the meeting be tween the President and Mr. Babcock," said a prominent Republican this morning, "but I have it on the highest authority that Mr. Babcock owned up frankly that he could not figure out a Republican majority in the next House with any degree of certainty. 'We must look to the West to save us,' he said.

lose congressmen in nearly all of the Eastern States-four or five in New England; eight or ten in New York; three, and perhaps more in Pennsylvania; two or three in New Jersey; two in Maryland, and one or two in West Virginia.

"When one remembers that the change of thirty districts from Republican to Democratic will give the Democrats the control of the Fifty-sixth Congress, there would seem to be some foundation for Mr. Babcock's apprehension.

publicans to make gains of congressmen in the West. Republican senators and members from the West who have been in Washington recently are almost unanimous in declaring that they will be mighty lucky if they succeed in holding their own in November, in their respecttve States.

"The South is the only remaining section for the Republicans to work upon and the South for a great many years has never been a very promising field for Republican operations. Altogether the chances are about five to one against the Republicans retaining control of the lower branch of Congress."

Senator Hanna's advice when he arrives here and surveys the field will probably be to appeal to the almighty dollar to help them out of their dilemma. Mr. Hanna has reason to feel great congument in politics. It nominated Mc-Kinley to the Presidency at St. Louis in 1896 and it undoubetedly played an important part in his subsequent election.

Insiders say that Mr. Hanna will send out a confidential circular to his Presidential syndicate and all Republican them to send in cash subscriptions to save the cause of "sound money" and affair has been called by S. W. Giesy for help sustain the policy of the Adminis- next Saturday. tration. Liberal responses are anticipated by the Republican leaders and if they are not forthcoming with the rapidity desired, they say that Mr. Hanna knows how to put the screws on and force the corporations and great financial houses to come up to his expectations.

Senator Hannn's first call, it is understood, will be for $1,000,000, but after he has talked with the President and realizes the gravity of the situation, he may decide to double or even triple his first call for funds. The trusts and corporations and big monopolists might as well get ready to walk up to the captain's office, settle, and

The complainants were Richard Meyer, a saloon keeper, at Myrtle and Tompkins leaves the volunteer service of which he Avenues; Mrs. Magdalene Reissmeyer, or No. 882 Myrtle Avenue; Mrs. Mary Furey. of No. 129 Tompkins Avenue, and Henry Schlidt, of No. 967 Myrtle Avenue.

Complaints against Mr. Gloeckner wer made to the police in different precincts about a week ago. In each case the accusers were told to get a warrant from some police court. The first to do this was Henry Schildt, who cashed a check for $3 drawn on the firm of G. W. Terry & Co., bankers and brokers, at No 38 Wall Street. Gloeckner at the time lived at No. 169 Vernon Avenue, a flat house almost opposite the police station. When the warrant was issued the mar
